

I live in a quiet house,
on a quiet street,
and live a quiet cat life.

Each day I pad around - walking here,
sleeping there, watching life go by.

I never expected my life to change.

But one morning something was different.
The golden sun was brighter, the growing grass was greener, the treetop birds, more joyful.

I felt like a butterfly was flitting around in my belly!